ADMINISTRATION

Twenty-six years ago Mr. Harry W. Jones came to Piedmont High School, which was then a small institution of some two hundred students housed in shacks and tents. During the period of time that he has been associated with the schools of Piedmont as superintendent and as principal of the high school, he has been a constructive leader and organizer, having completed an ambitious building program for the senior and junior high schools and for the three elementary schools. A true friend of the young people, and one with enthusiasm for youth and its problems, he has always been interested in establishing high ideals. Scholastic standards, student government, honor societies, school publications, awards for achievements, cultural attainments in art, music, and drama—these are only a few of the activities which, as principal of the high school, he has fostered. As a friend of the students he will always have the gratitude of every loyal supporter of the Clan.

To Mr. Jones, as he retires after his long association with the Piedmont schools, his friends express appreciation and good wishes.

THEODORE L. BYSTROM, A. B.; M. A.
Principal

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

This Clan-O-Log, like those that have preceded it, tells the story in word and picture of school life here at Piedmont. It cannot tell the whole story, of course, but it will serve as a reminder in years to come of pleasant years spent with friends in the pursuit of a wide range of activities.

Many things which now seem unimportant will gain added significance over the years, and other things now seemingly so important will come to be looked upon as having little merit when judged from a distance in time. Yet, with it all, the Clan-O-Log remains as one of the most important means by which the aims, the activities, the accomplishments of Piedmont High School students are preserved.

In order to produce this book a relatively small group of students, under the wise and able leadership of Miss Martha G. Lane, have devoted a great deal of their time and effort. That their efforts have been successful is attested by the quality of the book. It is a fitting tribute, in itself, to the high abilities of its producers.

FOREWORD

With a minimum of words and a maximum of pictures we have attempted to portray on these pages the story of life at Piedmont High in all its phases. May this yearbook serve in years to come as a link to former classmates and a means of recalling activities, friends, and faculty.

Planned and printed during the time when the world was officially at peace, the twenty-fifth volume of the Clan-O-Log has come out in times that have been anything but peaceful. Problems are world-wide and finally came right to our small world here at Piedmont High School, where, among other things, the Clan-O-Log Staff has had to grapple with the effects of war and the transition to peace.

We of the staff of 1947 feel that much credit should go to those editors during the war who maintained the standards of the Clan-O-Log, while some schools abandoned their yearbooks entirely. This year, although we also have been affected by some of the same shortages and by the high prices, we have also had opportunities to return to features typical of the pre-war Clan-O-Log. One of those features of which we are proud is the cover of heavy material to replace the breakable plastic bindings; and the size of the book has been increased slightly. Much praise and many thanks should be given to Miss Lane, whose hard work and skillful guidance as advisor have been the leading factors in the production of this book.

In presenting any book which is a review of the year's activities, we cannot help glancing into the past. In 1920 we see Mr. William John Cooper, founder and first principal of Piedmont High, opening the doors of the old Piedmont casino to a hopeful freshman class. One memorable day Mr. Cooper presided at the dedication services of the new building which is now our Piedmont High School; and thus he saw the fulfillment of a long-cherished dream. Here is the nucleus upon which Mr. Harry W. Jones built when he came as principal in 1921. In the following years under Mr. Jones' capable guidance, honored traditions of our school, centered around a Scotch theme, have been growing up; and Piedmont High School has herself been growing into a position of prominence. All Clansmen are justly proud of our motto, "Achieve the Honorable," of the honor organizations, the many trophies won for athletic achievements, the Highlander, the Kiltie band, and the Clan-O-Log itself; and we thank Mr. Jones for helping us develop these and other ideals of our life as Clansmen.

To guide us in carrying on these treasured traditions and to help us in developing new ones, we welcome to Piedmont High School to start out with us on our twenty-seventh year, our new principal, Mr. Theodore L. Bystrom. We extend our sincerest thanks to him for his friendliness and interest, his co-operation and influence during his first year with us.

Although we have not formally dedicated this yearbook, we have used as a symbol the hourglass which has been portrayed on the first page. With the turning of the hourglass we see our past slipping away as the sands of time and our new future opening with each hour. We have had this year at Piedmont High and have done our best to build constructively. May the coming classes and generations keep on building and raise our school to new heights of fame.

Jeanne Thomas, Editor

GEE! All That Work for — NOTHING

"Great Sports, Piedmonters!" "Yea!"

This year at Piedmont High School—as seen through the eyes of the freshman art classes

JANUARY CLASS

Plays: "Growing Pains" was given by the mid-term graduation class on January 24th. The two "adolescents" suffering most from growing pains were Tom Witter and Barbara Shreve, the leads in the play.

"The Light in the Pumpkin" was presented during the semester in assembly with two casts. The play, about Halloween, showed that the youth of today can still enjoy old-fashioned fun.

Farewell: The farewell assembly for the graduating girls included the following: a group of Christmas Carols presented by the boys' and girls' choir; the Christmas story from the Bible, narrated by Nancy Travis; and a farewell speech by Hoan President, Marijane Bronson.

JONES TROPHY HONOR ROLL

PRESENTATION AT CHRISTMAS

The Highlanders gave a beautiful version of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" on December 18th. The narrator was Bill Hawley, and the part of Scrooge was taken by Doug Stone and Foster Weeks. Following the play, the Glee Club sang a group of Christmas Carols.

THE ARTS

1. "The Dyspeptic Ogre" 2. "Light in the Pumpkin" 3. Music for the Rally 4. Stage Crew 5. Washington Day Program 6. Lead from "Thirty Minutes in a Street" 7. "Light in the Pumpkin" 8. "Boy Comes Home"

JUNE CLASS

Play: The graduates of June, 1947, presented an old-fashioned melodrama, "Hazel Kirke." Between the four acts, olios were presented by various other groups of the class. The play was not burlesqued but was similar to the plays of the 1800's. Two performances were given with a cast of thirteen each night. The leads were Marijane Bronson, Pat Beverly; Doug White, Bill McClaughry.

Farewell: The girls of the graduating class presented for their senior assembly a program of poems, tableaux, and music, symbolizing Love and Faith. The poems were given by a verse choir of about thirty girls. One tableau represented the story of Ruth, from the Bible, while another symbolized Patriotism. After the last song Celia Price gave the farewell speech.

PRESENTATIONS BY DRAMA CLASSES

Senior High: Presented in assembly—"The Boy Comes Home," "The Ambitious Guest," "Thirty Minutes in a Street," "Heart Attack," "The Still Alarm," "Be a Little Cuckoo," and a Washington's birthday program.

Presented at Children's Theater—"The Mystery of Goodacre Farm," written by Millis Caverly.

Junior High: Presented in assembly—"The Dyspeptic Ogre," "The Knight of the Turkey Feather," "The Estabrook Nieces," "The Prince Wants a Cherry Pie."

1. "Growing Pains" 2. Leads from "Thirty Minutes in a Street" 3. Clan-O-Log Artists 4. Dick 5. Clan-O-Log Cartoonists 6. Leads from "Thirty Minutes in a Street" 7. Cast of Senior Play—"Hazel Kirke"

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

This year the music department, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Dodson, has more than doubled its enrollment. Activities have included performances for assemblies, Dads' Club, Mothers' Club, Baccalaureate, Commencement, Christmas Program, various initiations, and the American Legion Rally. Two other outstanding events were the Spring Musical and carols sung at Highland Hospital.

In early May the Glee Club, orchestra, and a few soloists entered the music contest at the College of Pacific. Later in the month the Glee Club participated in the Festival at the Greek Theater at the University of California.

The growth of the Glee Club to almost one hundred voices has been one of the most noticeable developments of this year. Mr. Jones paid the group a compliment by saying that it was the finest choir he has heard at Piedmont in fifteen years.

DECLAMATION

American Legion Contest: Finalists—Pat Beverly and Margaret Brown.
Winner—Margaret Brown, "Pan-American Relations."

Masonic Oratorical Contest: Finalists—Dick Burns, Bill Ghidossi, Sue Marelia, Fletcher Taylor.
Winner—Sue Marelia, "Richard Wright."
Second Place—Fletcher Taylor, "George Gershwin."

REVIEW OF THE FOOTBALL SEASON

Coaches "Brick" Johnson and Jim Hole were together again last season to turn out another championship football team. The Clansmen started off right by winning their two practice games and then going on to overcome Alameda and Richmond. The "Big Game" with Berkeley was next, and Piedmont, suffering several injuries in the starting line-up, was able to come out with a scoreless tie. From then on it was easy going for the Piedmont players, for they won from Albany, El Cerrito, and Hayward to end the season on top of the League with the A. C. A. L. Championship.

After League competition was over, Piedmont played in the newly instituted Football Carnival, which brings together the top teams of the O. A. L. and the A. C. A. L. The Highlanders defeated San Leandro 7-0 to help the A. C. A. L. come through with a 13-0 victory.

REVIEW OF THE BASKETBALL SEASON

Hampered by a mid-season change of coaches, because of the loss of Coach Engelhard to the University of California, Piedmont, sporting a spirited basketball team, entered league play with a record of one victory during the practice season.

The Highlanders were trailing the league at the change of Semesters. Though Piedmont had a much improved team, we ended the season with a tie for last place with El Cerrito.

G. A. A.

The most important project for this season has been the revision of the G.A.A. constitution. The name has been changed to the Girls' Activities Association, and a girl gains admission by participating in one outside activity. A point system has been adopted which, when 50 points are gained, will admit a member to a higher award organization. This revision was adopted in order to arouse interest in G.A.A.

DANCE FESTIVAL

From the alcoves of the P. H. S. Library, Mother Goose, the Queen of Hearts, Little Boy Blue, and Simple Simon wandered on to the stage and were confronted by two Bobby Soxers and their jive talk. These two girls presented modern music and dancing.

This fantasy was under the direction of Miss Graves and Miss Haroldson; the script was written by Miss Caverly; piano accompaniment was provided by Mrs. Allen; while the Glee Club, led by Mr. Dodson, performed several numbers. Mrs. Horst's verse choir assisted in one of the presentations. There was also some individual choreography.

The 120 dancers were assisted by the following speaking parts: Mother Goose—Lillian Williams; Queen of Hearts—Nancy Hart; Little Boy Blue—Carole Gerhardy; Simple Simon—Sharon Bramkamp; Bobby Soxers—Janice Parker and Carolie Jory.
